ARTISTS WILL GIVE PROGRAM

MISS ALMA NASH AND MISS BRADBURY TO BE HERE

TO CLOSE CONTRACTS

Both Musicians Are En Route to Chicago On Business Trip In Interest of Plunker Chord Chart.

Miss Alma Nash, a former resident of this city, now director of the Alma Nash School of Fretted Instruments of Kansas City, accompanied by Miss Marion Bradbury, will be in Maryville July 16 and 17 to give a demonstration and to introduce the Plunker Chord Chart, a book for amateur players, published by the Plunker Chord Co., of which Miss Nash is head.

This demonstration will include a program given from 3 till 5 o'clock and will be held at the Cushman Music store. Miss Bradbury is a stage artist and singer who has obtained recognition both at home and abroad and the program will include numbers by both Miss Nash and Miss Bradbury.

Miss Nash and Miss Bradbury are en route to Chicago to close selling contracts with firms there for the sale of the books for which Miss Nash opened negotiations during a recent visit in Chicago. Miss Nash is a member of the board of directors of the American Guild of Mandolinists, Banjoists and Guitarists, and has just returned from a meeting of the Guild at Toledo, Ohio. While there she arranged for an introductory demonstration trip which is being made by auto and all principal places en route will be visited, including a several days stay at Kalamazoo, Mich., where one of the largest factories of fretted instruments in the United States is located. The second edition of the Plunker Chart is now being published, the first coming out two months ago. It was compiled by Miss Nash and Miss Bradbury. Miss Nash has attained a prominent place in the musical affairs of Kansas City. She has been associated with the Missouri and Doric theater orchestras and with the Kansas City Conservatory symphony. Several of her pupils are now appearing professionally and the Kansas City Plectral orchestra, which she directs filled a recent engagement at the Newman theater.

Miss Bradbury is not only a pleasing singer but a dramatic artist, who has played as understudy for Pauline Fredrick and Clara Kimball Young. She was employed in the motion picture studios at Hollywood for some time, appearing in the feature film of "Every Woman." One occasion which brought Miss Bradbury into considerable publicity, was while being filmed in a comedy reel she carried on her part while an alligator was chewing at her skirt, bringing the scene to completion without any break. She sang at the Lord Mayor's ball at Belfast last summer when the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World were being entertained. The London press notices of Miss Bradbury's appearance on this occasion and other times she appeared in public entertainment while abroad, were very complimentary.

Through the influence of Miss Nash, the annual convention of the American Guild will be held in Kansas City in May of next year.

OAK HILL MAY BE ENLARGED

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO INVESTIGATE BUYING LAND

ALL GOOD LOTS TAKEN

Council Would Consider an Expansion of Cemetery Grounds North of Maryville

Mayor W. O. Garrett was authorized by the city council in special session last night to appoint a committee of five representative property owners of Maryville to investigate the proposition of acquiring more land for the Oak Hill Cemetery, north of Maryville. The committee will report to the city council at the earliest possible date after making the investigation and the action the commissioners will take will probably be based on the report of the five men of the committee.

Mayor Garrett said this morning he would make the appointments late this afternoon.

It is the opinion of the council that the time has arrived to expand the cemetery grounds at the Oak Hill Cemetery. There are hardly any favorable lots to be obtained now at this place and it is necessary to expand if the cemetery is to be continued for burial purposes. Propositions to secure from four to seven more acres of land would be considered by the city commissioners and the council has been informed that there are several acres of property adjacent to the Oak Hill Cemetery that are obtainable.

An ordinance was introduced at the council meeting last night for paving of Lincoln street from Main to Buchanan street with seven inch re-inforced concrete. Contract for this work will be let July 25. This short piece of roadway to be paved is deemed necessary to connect up paving on the aforementioned streets and is being effected under the connecting law. The city council adjourned until July 13.

Warner Wyatt of Arkoe was a Maryville visitor today.

GANT'S DEATH SEALS SECRET

END COMES TO PROMINENT K. C. BANKER

HIS LIFE LIKE FICTION

Rose From Poor Insurance Agent to Financial Leader in Kansas City —Big Fortune Disappears

Kansas City, July 11—Slow suicide, accomplished by a will not to live, is the verdict today of doctors in the death here this morning of Joseph R. Gant, former president of the Centropolis Bank.

With Gant's death there will be carried to the grave the most amazing financial mystery in the West in years, the complete disappearance of nearly three-quarters of a million dollars.

Fiction holds few more entrancing stories than the life and death of Joe Gant. Of good family, with modest income, the man, who was an insurance agent in his youth, rose to wealth and a confidence among financial leaders so strong that when he was arrested for his part in the failure of the bank and his bonds were increased, the leaders of the money structure of Kansas City went on his bond and kept it.

No reason has ever been advanced for the erash of the bank or the expenditure of the money.

Gant's life was a model one, so far as detectives and friends can discover. The banker did not gamble, did not speculate and lived more modestly than his wealth and station called for that his friends were often prone to remonstrate.

Yet almost three-quarters of a million dollars are somewhere and only the mind that was yesterday Joe Gant's can tell where.

Arrangements for the funeral and a new search of Gant's papers for a possible clue to the missing fortune will be made today.

Mrs. Rebecca Gray, her daughter, Mrs. Garnette Watt, and daughters, Ruby Lucille and Virginia, are at home in the new residence of Frank Wallace, 310 S. Main street, which was recently completed.

Noted Musicians Who Will Be Here

Miss Alma Nash, a former resident of Maryville, and Miss Marion Bradbury will appear in a program and demonstration at the Cushman Music Store on July 16 and 17.

Man Barks and Snarls Like Dog in Strange Case

Cincinnati, Ohio, July 11.—"Hurry, send an officer; there's a man-dog after us!" was the plea by telephone today to Cummingsville police station.

When a patrolman arrived on the scene, a man who had been on his hands and knees, turned his attention to pedestrians and charged at the officer. The officer sidestepped and collared the man who snapped, snarled and barked. The man became unconscious as he was being conveyed to the general hospital.

Physicians have been unable to diagnose the case. His clothing was disarranged and covered with mud.

He was finally identified as Frank Ohl.

All this land is located along the north end of the 4.66 miles nine foot concrete project to Pickering, on which the contract will be let by the highway commission July 24.

Out of the four criminal cases brought before the court this morning one entered a plea of guilty and the others pleaded not guilty and gave bond for their appearance at the October term of court.

NOT A "DUMPING GROUND."

Australia has finally taken exceptions to the statements of American experts on immigration that American immigration restrictions will not work a hardship upon the excluded Europeans and Asiatics because they will be free to go to South America and Australia, which offer opportunities equal to those formerly offered the alien in the United States.

The Australian delegation at the Institute of Pacific Relations at Honolulu has announced frankly and with finality that their country will not be made a "dumping ground" or melting pot" for the world's undesirables.

Immigration restriction in the Pacific dominion antedates that in the United States. While the country does not expressly exclude Orientals there are only seven Japanese and few other Asiatics in the whole dominion. These results have been obtained through highly elastic literacy tests which permit the exclusion of undesirable literates as well as illiterates.

The Australians feel as do the people of the United States that they are under no obligation, moral or other wise, to make their country a haven for the discontented lower classes of other less richly endowed countries. They offer no excuses for their restriction of immigration and believe no apologies in order.

As in the United States, the future immigration of Australia will be governed by the country's labor needs and the limitations of its inhabitable land area.

The women are getting the floor nowadays but they are showing less and less desire to mop it up.

There is a bright side to all situations. If you don't own a car, you don't need to bother about the increase in the price of rubber and tires and tubes. You can smile along with the owners of rubber stock.

Kansas City has elected a woman, Mrs. Sylvester Wells, city clerk. She has taken the oath of office and answered with an emphatic "I do" and the probabilities are that she will, regardless of what the political ethics and customs may demand.

It is all very well to swat the fly but no set of people can swat flies fast enough to keep down the supply if they are allowed to breed within a city's limits. Every city owes it to its residents to see that all breeding places for flies are removed and kept removed. Flies and good health do not go together.

Barney Baruch of New York, a rich man himself, has given $250,000 as a foundation for an investigation of methods by which the wealth of the country may be conscripted and mobilized in war time. Mr. Baruch believes this will go a great way toward discouraging jingo talk during peace times by men who expect to profit thereby.

Those who are opposed to Federal aid in road building may be reminded that whenever a state is aided in building better roads than it can afford to build on its own account, men are benefitted all over the country because men from all states are driving now into every other state and this is one public improvement that has become national in its scope.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer.

Washington. — Earthquakes aren't hard to foretell. A bit of study is necessary, that's all.

Predictions can't be quite as accurate as the weather bureau's, perhaps. That is, they can't be pinned down to specific dates.

However, they usually can be made within a matter of months. They can be made, too, a good deal farther in advance than weather predictions can.

This is the testimony of experts like the hydrographic office's, the coast and geodetic survey's, the bureau of standards' and the Smithsonian and Carnegie Institutions'. These scientists do no wild guessing, make no forecasts on the strength of anything but information they have excellent reason to consider reliable.

Seismology's progress has been very rapid recently, owing to perfection of the sonic depth finder by Dr. Harvey C. Hayes of the naval research laboratory, near Washington.

Previously deep sea sounding had been such slow work that scientists couldn't keep up with changes in ocean depths. With Dr. Hayes' device it is done as rapidly as a fast ship can steam, so that a day-by-day record is possible, if desired.

That's just what science does require—maybe not literally day-by-day, but frequently—to know of coming quakes. Earth shifts which presage big shakeups occur pretty rapidly, once they start.

We think of geological changes as taking ages, and no doubt the processes responsible for them are very slow, but when the time comes for a readjustment nature works fast.

Indeed, the quakes themselves testify to this theory's correctness they certainly are abrupt enough.

However, there are advance warnings. A ship equipped with the Hayes sounding device charts the ocean floor in the autumn, say, and off Santa Barbara.

The following spring she takes fresh soundings and finds deeper water in some places than before. The best guess is that a submarine fault has slipped.

Something like a rubber ball, the earth, pressed down in one spot, tends to rise somewhere else.

It's up to the investigators, having discovered a point where a downward pressure evidently is being exerted, to determine where the corresponding upward tilt is to be expected.

By following the line of the fault this isn't difficult to do —and quite exactly.

Community Advertising Newest Force That Is Making for Much Progress

The following is the thirty-third installment of the article on "Community Advertising," written for the Democrat-Forum by D. A. Caldwell, secretary of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce.

The fundamental purpose of advertising is to create a sort of personality trait or quality and arouse the imagination of the reader. If community advertising is to succeed in drawing and holding attention, it must be elevated to the highest of literary and artistic standards. The literary and artistic appeal will do much for community advertising.

Community advertising is the newest force that is having much to do with community program. It is a call to action for a better America. Much depends upon the literature sent out being modern, as it is an integral part of selling. Writing to sell is one of the youngest of the arts. The largest and most successful advertising publication in the world has but 600 users of space.

The creation of literature, as applied to all community advertising requires something more than well written copy. Few of our communities are capable of making a material advancement that will startle the country, but all of them, from the smallest to the largest, are destined to become better communities in which to live, work, serve and play, if men and women develop their communities around the objectives outlined for a community advertising campaign.

It is important to be able to sift out the casual inquiries from the genuine prospects. Each one should be politely answered as soon as received and some printed matter, describing assets should be sent.

The Chamber of Commerce is, in reality, the sales department for the community. Letting an inquirer think that you have forgotten him, only to find that you have not, excites his interest. Inquiries received one year may not become real prospects until the year after.

Prosecutors' Pay Hike to Be Fought

Central Missouri County Judges in Sedalia Meeting Aren't Optimistic, However.

Sedalia, Mo., July 11.—Fourteen county judges from nine counties in Central Missouri decided here yesterday to fight the salary increase for prosecuting attorneys, provided in a ruling by the state supreme court.

The judges decided to make a test case and concentrate their defense. Most of them, however, felt their chances of winning were small, because the supreme court already had granted the increase in three counties.

Judges E. T. Bailey and Charles S. Armstrong of the county court of Nodaway County were in attendance at the meeting.

NEWS OF MISSOURI CITIES AND TOWNS.

Columbia, Mo., July 11.—Prof. C. H. Williams is wondering today whether the shot which smashed a window pane in his home was accidental or intended for some member of the family.

Williams was asleep in one of the upper rooms of his home when the shot was fired while his wife and a woman companion were seated on the front porch. A car was passing when the pistol was fired.

The police were notified but so far have failed to find any trace of the car which is thought to have carried the person firing the shot.

Centralia, Mo., July 11.—Fay Ousley, local business man is paralyzed in both legs as the result of an accident over the week end when he was swimming in a creek near Sturgeon, Mo.

Failing to ascertain the depth of the stream before he dived, Ousley's head struck a stump at the bottom of the creek. The blow cut a deep gash in the back of his head which paralyzed both legs.

Columbia, Mo., July 11.—Broson Grubb, 9 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Grubb, local residents, had a narrow escape from a fate which two children in Mexico and Fulton met last month when they were killed by motor cars. Grubbs in attempting to cross a street in front of a taxi cab fell in front of the car just as it struck him. The accident was unavoidable and according to his mother, his injuries do not appear to be serious.

Kirksville, Mo., July 11.—Col. J. E. Ringer, world war veteran was seriously injured here on the Fourth of July and as a result is totally blind.

Ringer with several companions went to the Still pasture near here intending to fire salutes in celebration of the day. They used powder which they placed between two blacksmith anvils and touched the fuse with a red hot iron. Eleven salutes were fired without accident. The twelfth charge failed to explode and Ringer approached the anvils intending to reprime with more powder. The explosion occurred as he was stooping over to apply the powder. He was badly burned about the face and arms. It was not realized at the time how seriously he was injured. However, today it was reported he is totally blind.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 11.—Charging that Dr. Roy B. Norton of Purdy, Barry county obtained his medical diploma from the state through misrepresentations of his educational status, Dr. James Stewart, secretary of the State Board of Health, has ordered the former to appear before the Board on July 23 to show cause why his license should not be revoked.

The hearing will be held at the Municipal Courts building at St. Louis. Stewart further charged that Horton was connected in some manner with the "fake medical diploma" ring.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 11.—A stretch of concrete highway, including a culvert over the Katy railroad tracks making a total distance of two miles has been opened on State highway No. 7 between here and Columbia. The stretch is about two miles long and runs across the river bottoms which formerly gave motorists much trouble during the rainy season.

The highway is now either oiled or graveled all the way with the exception of about a thousand yards.

Maryville's Mayor Is Now Using Crutches

Three Toes of Left Foot are Injured Yesterday When Water Pipe Falls On His Foot.

Locomotion by one leg and two crutches is Mayor W. O. Garrett's method these days and it is likely he will be compelled to use crutches for several days.

One toe broken and two badly crushed on his left foot were sustained about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon when a four foot piece of six inch water pipe fell unexpectedly. Mr. Garrett said he was standing on the pavement and the concrete didn't give a bit.

The Mayor was aiding J. W. Qualls, superintendent of water department, who was putting in a fire plug to the new water extension on South Main street, the fire plug being located near the Engelmann greenhouses. Mr. Qualls was cutting the pipe to fit it onto the main. Mr. Garrett was aiding Mr. Qualls by turning the pipe and the break in the pipe came before it was expected and Mr. Garrett was unable to get out from under the pipe in time to save his foot.

He was resting easier today, although the injuries gave him untold pain last night.

Babies have advantages. When one wants to leave a party all it has to do is cry a while.

"Captain Blood" at Electric July 13-14-15

J. Warren Kerrigan, who has the role of Captain Blood in Rafael Sabatini's famous novel of the same name, which will be the attraction at the Electric theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, July 13, 14, and 15, has lost his beautiful curly locks and joined the Shaved Headed Men's Club. For several years Kerrigan's hair has been admired by the fair sex and it was with regret that he allowed Director David Smith to shave his pate for the production.

Kerrigan is a true artist and willing to go to great personal sacrifice for art's sake. In several sequences he even allows his beard to grow and his hair to become unkempt. In other he appears without a visible hair on his head, save his eyebrows, lashes and goatee. During the major portion of the production, however, his head is graced with a curly wig hanging over his shoulders.

The story is set in the period of 1685 when men wore wigs, the custom originated in France in the 14th century when an elaborate curled wig graced the head of Louis XIII to cover baldness. It was adopted as a distinctive figure of court dress by Louis XIV and was introduced into England under Charles II. WORKERS MAY BE PARTNERS

CO-OPERATIVE PLAN DISCUSSED AT MEETING.

IS HELD AT CLARINDA

Electric Light Company Employes Are Told of New Arrangement—Number From Here Attend.

A large group of officials of the United Light & Railways Company, the organization operating the Maryville Electric Light & Power Co., Iowa Service Company, Lincoln Gas & Electric Light Company, the Lincoln Traction Company and Nebraska Gas & Electric Company, were guests of District Managers, Sam Lee of the Clarinda district, Blaine Archer of the Shenandoah district and C. C. Hellmers of the Maryville district at Clarinda last night.

The officials included C. N. Chubb, vice-president in charge of operating Iowa and Nebraska properties of the United Light & Railways Company, George A. Lee, assistant general counsel of the United Light & Railways Company, H. E. Weeks, vice president in charge of security sales of the United Light & Railways Company, Frank H. Brooks, vice president and general manager Iowa Service Company, William H. Hulswit, assistant to president and sales manager of the United Light & Railways Company and Carl Balcom of the publicity department.

The special purpose of their visit to Clarinda at this time was to attend a meeting of all employees of the three districts which was held at the U. P. Church. At this meeting, which was held in the form of a dinner, the officials of the company unfolded a plan of Employe-Partnership in the United Light & Railways Company. This plan is already in operation in all of the older properties in the United Light organization and at present two thousand of the employees of the subsidiary companies are partners in the operating company.

In addition to receiving definite monthly dividends, the employes will also be paid an annual bonus conditioned on the employe retaining his stock and remaining in the employ of the organization. The special plan under which employes are allowed to purchase the stock is limited to stock subscribed for within the next ten days, when the special plan will be closed.

Mr. Chubb, in discussing the plan, stated, "Our experience in the past several years has demonstrated the desirability of having our employes interested in the company in the capacity of stockholders. We are greatly pleased by the large number who have subscribed for stock and thus taken on the dual role of employee and stockholder. The company has benefited through the fact that the employe in this dual role gives an improved service and greater efficiency to the business. I trust the full value of this offer will be appreciated, so that the company and the employees may benefit mutually to the greatest extent; the company through the greater interest of its employees, and the employees through the greater returns from their investments. Workers in industry are rapidly securing a large part of the ownership of the industries in which they are engaged. While workers are financially interested, business naturally benefits through the fact that workers become greater "boosters." The greater benefit however, is for the worker. The accumulation of savings, safely and regularly invested at a good rate of interest, leads to financial independence."

The shares of stock offered employees are Prior Preferred shares paying monthly dividends at the rate of $6.36 annually. This particular stock occupies the highest position in all of the stocks of the United Light & Railways Company. Beginning with August 1 this same security will be offered to customers of the company in the Missouri territory, this permitting them to become Customer-Partners in the operating company. The company already numbers over eight thousand of such stockholders in the older communities served by United Light.

Five carloads of employes from the Maryville district attended the meeting at Clarinda. They were: Miss Margaret Sorrie, Miss Aleyene Smith, Miss Hazel Anderson, Miss Nona Pierse, Homer Dragoo, Mrs. Homer Dragoo, Wm. Shriver, Jess Davis, J. C. Davis, T. C. Hill, C. J. Vance, Marion Gile, T. B. Mumma, Conrad Blackman, Glen Trullinger, Russell Cline, Chas. Chaney, Paul Ward, C. A. Clark, Chas. Ellis, Cleo Yehle, R. J. Wolfe and C. C. Hellmers.

Geo. R. Ellison, local counsel of the Maryville district, also attended the meeting.

Krieger Meets Man in a Finish Match

Adam Krieger again had a profitable night when he engaged with two of the wrestlers that are with the Schwable-Wallick Shows.

Krieger threw Nelson, a light weight, with a toe hold in seven minutes. He then tussled back and forth across the mat with Joe Cox for ten minutes and then threw Buddie Anderson and Nelson in four and three minutes. Tonight a finish match between Krieger and Cox will be held. This is the match that will attract the most fans and should be a lively bout, providing the manager is along the side lines to back up his protege, Joe Cox.

THE MELLENIUM.

No more we'll hear the fife and drum,
Calling us out to fight,
No more we'll hear the shriek of shells,
Make hideous the night.

No more we'll call our fine young men,
From barn and shop to go,
To bleed and die in Flanders,
Where the waving poppies grow.

No more we'll take our plow shades off,
And beat them into swords,
We'll take our out-lawed battle ships,
And make them into Fords.

No more we'll loan to Uncle Sam,
At four or five per cent,
We'll send the war lord profiteers,
Right where they should be sent.

The golden rule will be our guide,
Good will to men on earth,
We'll sell our goods to Chinamen,
At less than what they are worth.

We'll act with men upon the square,
With nations we'll be level,
And then the Japs will come across,
And lick us like the Devil.

—"JERRY."

Prejudice Cause for Fight on Evolution

Is Opinion of Columbia, Mo., Professor, One of the Defense Witnesses at Scopes' Trial.

Columbia, Mo., July 11.—(United Press)—Prejudice and ignorance has brought about the fight against evolution.

This according to Dr. W. C. Curtis, professor in zoology at the University of Missouri, and one of the defense witnesses. He has accepted an invitation extended by Dudley Field Malone to appear in the Scopes evolution trial at Dayton, Tenn.

"It is my conviction that the present storm against organic evolution," he said, "is but an expression of malign influences of prejudice and ignorance, hostile to what we may envision as to the high destiny of our western world.

"The scientists will be ready for Bryan's 'fight to death.' Facts are stubborn things that will not be denied."

More Prayer and Less Divorces His Slogan

A. J. Shartle, Boston, Speaks Before International Christian Endeavor Convention.

Portland, Ore., July 11.—(United Press)—"If people would pray more there would be less divorce," A. J. Shartle, Boston, told the International Christian Endeavor convention here.

"Families in homes where praying is done—real old-fashioned family prayer—have no misunderstandings that lead to the divorce court.

"Christian standards for family life call for mutual love and understanding. No married person could retain harsh feelings toward his or her mate if they would kneel in prayer."

Detroit Race Riots Did Not Materialize

Detroit, July 11.—Race riot outbreaks for which police have watched for the last three days have failed to materialize today. The trouble loomed three nights ago when a group of residents in a white neighborhood tried to dissuade a negro from occupying a house which he had purchased. Negroes remonstrated and were arrested on charges of disturbing the peace and carrying concealed weapons. A serious rioting was feared at the time.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, July 11.—Grain prices soared sharply on the Chicago Board of Trade today.

July wheat jumped 9 cents; distant futures 6¾ cents. Course grains were slightly higher, principally in sympathy with wheat.

There were many contributing factors to the drastic upturn in wheat, the most important of which was the heat wave that blankets the country from the Ohio River through Montana.

Crop damage complaints came from the territory in the grip of the heat wave. Cables said foreigners, who had overstayed the market in anticipation of lower prices, have been forced to come into the pit by extremely low supplies.

Fifty Years Ago

Many of our farmers are now cutting their small grains.

New potatoes are on the market and the "Murphy" lovers are happy.

We hear the chinch bug is doing a great deal of damage to the spring wheat.

Wiebald Yehle & Co., announce this week that they have opened a new meat market at Yehle's old stand on the west side of Main street.

Dr. Talbott informs us that the replant of corn in his section of the county where the river overflowed, is growing nicely.

William Shanks, whose farm adjoins town on the north, brought into our office last Monday a beautiful specimen of fall wheat raised on his place. This wheat is now cut and in the shock and Mr. Shanks estimates that it will yield fully thirty bushels to the acre.

Our Maryville baseball club, the "Muffers," went up to Bedford, Ia., last Friday to play a match game of ball with the "Crusaders," of that place, and in the contest the "Muffers" came off victorious, the final score being 47 to 33. Our boys were hospitably treated by the Bedfordites and we understand that a return game will be played in Maryville in about two weeks.

On last Friday night and a portion of the day Saturday and Sunday, this section of the country was visited by a violent rain storm. The rain fell in torrents and literally poured down, causing the streams throughout the county to overflow their banks. Much damage has been done to the growing crops by these overflows. Last Monday the 102 River almost rivaled in size the "Great Fathers of Waters," the bottom being entirely covered by its overflow, but at last accounts the river was falling.

The celebration of the Fourth at Conception proved much more of a success than even the most optimistic could possibly have anticipated in the day. The heavy rains had so swollen the streams that it was somewhat difficult to cross them as the waters were out on the bottoms to considerable extent.

On last Thursday B. E. Cox, Esq., took to St. Joseph from this city a noted horsethief and desperado whose real name is Bill Johnson. This man Johnson was quite recently confined in the Harrison County jail on a charge of grand larceny but before his trial came on he succeeded in making his escape. He was later captured, tried and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary, later escaping from that institution. He was captured in this section of the country by Sheriff Beach.

John T Scopes Chip Off the Old Block

Father Says They are Both Bullheaded—Scopes Senior Is Railroad Machinist by Occupation.

By John Moutoux
United Press Staff Correspondent

Dayton, Tenn., July 11.—The only difference between Thomas Scopes, father, and John Thomas Scopes, son and defendant in the Tennessee evolution case, is 42 years. They resemble each other in looks and act and think alike.

Scopes, Sr., has arrived to witness the trial of his boy.

"Your son is certainly a chip off the old block!" somebody remarked to the elder Scopes when he landed in Dayton from Paducah, Ky.

"Yes," he answered. "I guess what he's got is all natural." We're both bullheaded and trying to find the truth. I've been teaching evolution all my life and the only reason I haven't been arrested is because I don't live in a state that has an anti-evolution law.

"I don't mean to say that I've ever been a school teacher. My occupation has been that of a railroad machinist but I've been doing quite a bit of talking on the subject—all in favor of evolution."

Several times the son had to warn his father to quit talking about certain subjects. One time it was about newspapers. The elder Scopes was praising some and damning others with newspapermen all around.

"Here dad," said the son, "you can't do that. They're all kind to me."

Between sips at a soda, Scopes, Sr., told those about him what he thought of Bryan's view on religion.

"I heard Mr. Bryan deliver my son's commencement address and a fine talk it was too. But when he talks on religion, I think there must be something wrong with his——,"

"Father," interrupted the son, pulling at his arm, "I want you to meet Mr. Bryan."

The father turned around and saw standing in front of him, with a white tropical helmet on, William Jennings Bryan. They shook hands.

With the hands still clasped and not the least bit ruffled, the defendant's father said:

"As I was saying, Mr. Bryan, I endorsed every word of what you said at my son's commencement exercises, but I don't agree with you now."

Bryan, barely smiling, replied:

"Perhaps you're biased."

CONVENTION IS PROPOSED

JUDGE PRIEST URGES DELEGATE GATHERING OF DEMOCRATS.

PREVENT PARTY SPLIT

Would Choose List of Democratic Candidates Which Would Then Be Voted on in Primary.

(St. Louis Globe-Democrat).

Former Judge Henry S. Priest, of St. Louis, a candidate for Governor in the last Democratic primary campaign, yesterday forwarded a letter to Joshua Barbee of Kansas City, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, suggesting the calling of a delegate convention for the ratification of a list of candidates for next year's election and the adoption of a "fundamental platform" for them to run on.

If a state convention were called, as Priest suggests, it would probably recommend to the voters in the primary a candidate for Supreme Judge and a candidate for United States Senator, a didate for State Superintendent of Public Schools.

The slating of candidates in a preferential convention could not displace the state primary, which, under the law must be held. The action of a convention could not prevent aspirants for Senator or other offices who failed of indorsement or who refused to submit their candidacies to the convention from running, but a recommendation by a representative convention undoubtedly would have great weight with the voters in the primary.

Would Prevent Party Splits.

Candidates who submitted their candidacies and failed to obtain the indorsement of the convention and candidates who refused to submit their claims to the state convention would be under a severe handicap in attempting to defeat the preference candidates in the primary. This would be particularly true if the convention was thoroughly representative of the Democratic party in Missouri.

Apparently this plan, if carried out successfully, would avoid party schisms which usually develop after a hard-fought primary.

Priest criticised the state primary. He said candidates frequently are nominated by a minority of the voters and that they run for office upon personal platforms which are not based upon fundamental party principles but upon fads. The party is broken up, he said, into revengeful camps, which are destructive of party unity.

Many Aspire to Offices.

There are a number of candidates and prospective candidates for office in the Democratic party at this time. Harry B. Hawes, Eleventh District Congressman, while he has made no formal announcement, is regarded as a full-fledged candidate for United States Senator. Charles M. Hay and former Gov. Frederick D. Gardner are making political soundings and may become candidates. Thomas L. Rubey of Lebanon, Sixteenth District Congressman, is an aspirant. Others may develop within the next few weeks.

Supreme Judge A. M. Woodson is a candidate for re-election to the Supreme Court. State Superintendent of Public Schools Lee is expected to be a candidate to succeed himself.

Every Democratic candidate now in the field, or who may decide to run for office later on, will be interested in Priest's suggestion for a preference convention.

Priest, in discussing his letter to Barbee, said he hoped that it would provoke thoughtful discussion in the Democratic party and that party leaders will decide to select the Democratic candidates through a preference convention.

St. Louis, July 11.—Harry B. Hawes, member of Congress from the Eleventh Missouri district, announced today that it is his intention to become a candidate for United States senator next year. He said this while discussing formally the suggestion of former Judge Henry S. Priest that the Democratic state committee call a state convention for the ratification of candidates for office next year and the formulation of a party platform. Hawes says the suggestion of Priest suits him but it was a matter for the state committee to decide.

Charles M. Hay of St. Louis when asked whether he would be a candidate for senator said:

"I have given little thought so far of running for United States senator."

NUMBER OF BIRTHS LESS

SHOW DECREASE OF 30 FROM JUNE, 1925, WITH JUNE, 1924.

DEATH RATE IS LOWER

An Increase of Communicable Diseases Shown in Report of County Health Department.

A decrease of thirty births in Nodaway County for the month of June this year as compared to the same period last year is shown by the monthly report of the Nodaway County Health Department that was made public today. However, the number of deaths, according to the report, decreased by three. Births for the month number thirty-one this year and for the same period last year totaled sixty-one, while deaths were reported as eighteen throughout the county for June, 1925.

There was an increase in the number of cases of reportable diseases according to the report of Dr. C. P. Fryer, county health officer. Two scarlet fever cases were noted while there were none during June, 1924; typhoid cases numbered the same as the scarlet fever and measles one, and for the same period last year there were no typhoid fever or measles cases. Not a pneumonia case was reported, with one case during June, 1924.

Dr. Fryer in his summary for the month of June of the activities of the County Health Department says: "The regulations of the state board of health were fulfilled in regard to quarantinable diseases with special emphasis having been given to sanitary inspections.

"During the month two tonsil clinics were conducted at St. Francis Hospital here and at this time sixteen children underwent operations for the removal of tonsils and adenoids.

"Two classes in Modified Home Nursing and Care of the Sick were given with a total attendance of thirty-six members.

"A class numbering about one hundred, composed of students of the State Teachers' College, visited the office. Literature was distributed to each student present and short talks were given concerning the duties of the County Health Department and work in the schools.

"A number of sanitary inspections of schools and private homes were made during the month.

"Some time was spent in the inspection and treating of water supplies at various homes in Maryville and throughout the county."
